

Submit your research writing here

Start Assignment

- Due Friday by 5pm
- Points 135
- Submitting a file upload
- File Types doc, docx, rtf, and pdf
- Available Jan 26 at 12am - May 11 at 5pm

Submit your assessed research writing below.

Follow this checklist before you submit your text.

Checklist

1. Ensure your file satisfies all the minimum requirements for content, presentation and academic integrity specified in the table below.

Submission details
Content	Include: ▪ an introduction, conclusion, in-text citations and a bibliography ▪ a review of contemporary knowledge and advances or challenges

- no more than four pages (excluding the bibliography)

Do not include:

- an abstract
- methodology or results sections for studies or your research
- visual information or data, like bullet points, diagrams, tables, photographs because your text should describe and evaluate in prose only; speak to your teacher if you feel your review requires these

Presentation

To write to publication standards means to provide

- the text with a meaningful title
- sections with meaningful headings
- text at a readable font size (minimum 12 pt.)

	▪ page numbers ▪ properly formatted paragraphs (do not write in columns as in some journals) ▪ citations and a matching bibliography correctly formatted in a referencing style used in your field
Academic integrity	Your text should uphold university policies and: ▪ must be original and unique for this task; do not submit texts that you submitted for assessments or publication elsewhere ▪ must include DOI information in the bibliography where it is available ▪ must not cite AI as author of any texts ▪ will get evaluated for academic integrity against databases of texts; but your text will not be stored in these databases

2. Submissions get evaluated for similarity to other texts in online databases. You will receive a similarity percentage figure soon after submission. We suggest you submit your text 24-hours before the deadline so you can see this figure early to allow time to revise and resubmit (if necessary). The online databases will not retain your submissions.
3. Write your name in your text and title your file "Research writing-your full name". This helps us identify and return texts.
4. You may submit a Word-compatible or PDF file only.

5. Feedback will be returned on your submission within ten working days with the table below.

	Research Argument	Presentation & Language
		Structure	Style
A	The text presents a general review or research argument to publication standards. The argument contains an extended, balanced and thematized critical literature review that tells an engaging story.	The text presents expected sections with headings and formatting to publication standards. The text presents paragraphs to publication standards. The text uses cohesion and metadiscourse¹ to publication standards.	The text contains an engaging citation style featuring a variety of patterns and reporting verbs. The text speaks with an engaging academic writing style.
B	The text presents a mostly clear or sustained general review or research argument. The argument mostly contains a sustained or developed critical literature review that may tell a story with research themes.	The text includes sections with thoughtful headings and may include an introduction, conclusion or summaries. The text presents manageable paragraphs that helpfully develop the content across the text. The text mostly uses appropriate and varied types of cohesion to connect ideas within and across sentences and paragraphs.	The text consistently uses one citation style and may vary citation patterns and reporting verbs. The text mostly uses an energetic academic writing style featuring strong verbs and sentences structured for easy reading.
			The text may sometimes improperly use citation style or

C	The research argument presents just the minimum content required to justify undertaking the proposed research. The general review or literature review may require more critique, specifics, expansion or delicacy or may list studies rather than thematize them.	The text may look unattractive: it may lack sections or headings or appropriately formatted text or paragraphs. Paragraph purpose, length, or development may sometimes cause readers difficulty. The text may achieve cohesion with limited or unnatural or mechanical cohesive devices.	improperly use citation style or may use limited or repetitive or unengaging citation patterns and reporting verbs. Problematic academic writing style: unclear or difficult sentence structures may sometimes impair easy comprehension; limited or repetitive sentence structures or lengths or overuse of passives, nominalizations or informality may sometimes impair reading enjoyment.
D	The general review may lack a discernible purpose. The research argument may lack a focus or a discernible argument. The literature review lacks sufficient quantity or quality.	The text requires substantial revisions to the presentation and/or the paragraphing.	The text may often misuse or conflate citation styles in text and/or in the references. The academic writing style requires substantial improvement. Frequent language errors may cause readers difficulty.
Fail	Text not submitted or submitted after deadline or problematic similarity index reported

¹Metadiscourse means language used considerately to guide a reader through a text and to ease their comprehension. See Unit 9 for examples.

Criteria	Ratings					Pts
Research Argument	45 to >40.0 pts A The text presents a general review or research argument that approaches or meets publication standards. The argument contains an extended, balanced and thematized critical literature review that aims to tell an engaging story.	40 to >30.0 pts B The text presents a mostly clear or sustained general review or research argument. The argument mostly contains a sustained or developed critical literature review that may tell a story with research themes.	30 to >20.0 pts C The research argument presents just the minimum content required to justify undertaking the proposed research. The general review or literature review may require more critique, specifics, expansion or delicacy or may list studies rather than thematize them.	20 to >10.0 pts D The general review may lack a discernible purpose. The research argument may lack a focus or a discernible argument. The literature review lacks sufficient quantity or quality.	10 to >0 pts Fail Text not submitted or submitted after deadline or problematic similarity index reported	45 pts
Presentation		40 to >30.0 pts B The text includes sections with thoughtful headings and may include an introduction, conclusion or summaries. The text presents manageable paragraphs that helpfully develop the content across the text. The text mostly uses appropriate and varied types of cohesion to connect ideas within	30 to >20.0 pts C The text may look unattractive: it may lack sections or headings or appropriately formatted text or paragraphs. Paragraph purpose, length, or development may sometimes cause readers difficulty. The text may achieve cohesion with limited or unnatural or mechanical cohesive devices.	20 to >10.0 pts D The general review may lack a discernible purpose. The research argument may lack a focus or a discernible argument. The literature review lacks sufficient quantity or quality.	10 to >0 pts Fail Text not submitted or submitted after deadline or problematic similarity index reported	45 pts

Criteria	Ratings					Pts
	45 to >40.0 pts A The text presents expected sections with headings and formatting at or approaching publication standards. The text speaks with a generally engaging academic writing style. The text presents paragraphs at or approaching publication standards. The text cites sources with a variety of patterns and reporting verbs. The text generally uses cohesion and metadiscourse at or approaching publication standards.	and across sentences and paragraphs.
Style	45 to >40.0 pts A The text presents expected sections with headings and formatting at or approaching publication standards. The text speaks with a generally engaging academic writing style. The text presents paragraphs at or approaching publication standards. The text cites sources with a variety of patterns and reporting verbs. The text generally uses cohesion and metadiscourse at or approaching publication standards.	40 to >30.0 pts B The text mostly uses an energetic academic writing style featuring strong verbs and sentences structured for easy reading. The text consistently uses one citation style and may vary citation patterns and reporting verbs.	30 to >20.0 pts C Problematic academic writing style: unclear or difficult sentence structures may sometimes impair easy comprehension; limited or repetitive sentence structures or lengths or overuse of passives, nominalizations or informality may sometimes impair reading enjoyment. The text may sometimes improperly use citation style or may use limited or repetitive or unengaging citation patterns and reporting verbs.	20 to >10.0 pts D The academic writing style requires substantial improvement. Frequent language errors may cause readers difficulty.. The text may often misuse or conflate citation styles in text and/or in the references.	10 to >0 pts Fail Text not submitted or submitted after deadline or problematic similarity index reported	45 pts
Total Points: 135						